Liste rosse

Citizen science

The screenshot shows the iNaturalist website. At the top, it features the iNaturalist logo and the text 'iNaturalist'. Below this, there is a navigation bar with links for 'Home', 'Cosa è iNaturalist', 'Come funziona', 'Chi siamo', 'Contatti', and 'Aiuto'. A search bar is also present. The main content area is titled 'Come Funziona' and includes a large image of a flower with a '481.918 Specie Osservate' badge. Below the image, there are three icons representing different aspects of the platform: a smartphone with a green leaf, a person with a magnifying glass, and a butterfly with a speech bubble. The text 'Come Funziona' is centered below the icons.
